Season Outlook.

The spotlight is on...

After a successful first season in the PAC8 hockey conference, and a first round heartbreaking loss to the Oregon Ducks in the PAC championship, the San Diego State men's ice hockey program will look to build on last seasons success and make a push for the title.

This season the Aztecs will have a heavy home schedule, and will be hosting PAC conference rivals, UCLA, San Jose State, Arizona State, CAL, the University of Washington. The Aztecs non-conference home games will be versus the University of Georgia, Iowa State, Michigan University. The Aztecs will hit the road in November to play games versus the University of Wyoming, and Denver University.

The Aztecs roster took on a new talented group of freshmen to compliment the high skill on last season's roster. This season the ice hockey program will welcome back thirteen (13) of its players from last season including captains Reece Breuckman, along with assistants Devyn Taras, and Elisia Reece. The influx of talent has come in from all parts of the country including; Colorado, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Minnesota, and Upstate NY, as well as a bumper crop of California born players including a very high skilled group from JSerra Catholic H.S, along with representation from the Anaheim Jr. Ducks, and California Wave CAHA (California Amateur Hockey Association) programs.
